The Official Report (N. Y.) shows that the ratio of the number of policies upon which claims were paid in all companies has advanced from 10 0 per thousand in 1872 to 11 9 in 1873 In the former year the American Popular lost 4 7, and in the latter 3 7 per thousand.

The ratio of death claims and of expenses to total income, and to total amount at risk, increasing rather than diminishing in the case of the aggregate companies, being in both years very large, contrast strongly with the low ratio of this Company and its growing prosperity. In the light of these facts, its low premium rates are more than justified in a practical sense, as, in a scientific view, they are both equitable and secure.

Before the era of Life Insurance in this country, the old plan companies are shown by the reports to have done a comparatively small business, and it was doubtless, with the large premiums they required, comparatively safe. Some, commencing later, "pushed business" from the first, with a vehemence that created amazement, and already, in common with the o der companies, are beginning to experience the reaction that must have been expected from the abnormal and indiscreet infusion

The comparatively small (but really large for the kind) number of policies issued by this Company is one of the best evidences of its security—the rigid adherence to well established scientific principles, in the rating of risks, giving low premiums only to superior lives, and thus making the Company attractive to few other. It would surprise those not acquainted with the working of our plan, to know the number of applications received and the amount of labor and care expended in their examination and rating, all of which is just so much in the advantage of superior risks.

It will also be noticed that large business is not a guarantee of safety, for if the mortality is high, indicating a want of care or skill in selection, the larger the business, the more safety is imperiled, and while small business may not show care, large business does show carelessness We could have shown a very large business from the start if we had been indifferent to the kind. But the kind is the question, and more work is necessary in doing the amount of our kind of business than would do for times as much that would be unprofitable to both the assured and to the Company.

The increase of our business during the past year, is as wholesome and encouraging as our knowledge small.

Our ratio of increase has been

The ratio of all N. Y. Co.'s has been

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY

Cures CATARRH CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM IT, such as NEURALGIA, DEAFNESS, DIZZINESS, SORE EYES, DISAGREEABLE SOUNDS in the Head, Coughing in the Throat, unnatural discharges from the mucous membranes, Asthma, Derangements of the Bladder and Kidneys and pain in the Back, Loins, Colds, Cough and all Consumptive tendencies. It cannot cure confirmed consumption, but will help in the worst cases of consumption. Thousands of people can testify to the good results derived from the use of the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy.

Read the following certificate

BRUNSWICK, Me Nov 3, 1873.

Messrs. Hildreth & Co

Your Constitutional Catarrh Remedy is doing wonders I took the trouble to see Mr. C. as I knew of the case, and give you the facts in this case as I got them in relation to the case of Mr. Morse diseased with Catarrh in the worst form. As the time of his wife's illness when he went to the village and found the Remedy, which cured him, Charles L. so commenced taking it for deafness, he had not heard a watch for the space of [illegible] days although he had carried one constantly with him except upon such occasions as inspection, and now, since having taken three, he can hear as better than he ever remembers hearing before in his life. He was so troubled with nasal catarrh that he could not breathe through his nose, and now, since having taken three, he can breathe freely through both nostrils. Patients in this section of the country are anxiously waiting for the Remedy, and I have no doubt you will have a large sale for it. Yours truly,

Edgar Deering, of Portland, who shot himself at Round Pond, a short time since, is very low. Surgeons probed the wound last week, since which time he has declined rapidly.

Workmen are engaged in putting in the ventilators in the Representatives' Hall at the State House. It is confidently expected that the proposed method of ventilation will fully effect the object sought.

Gen. Harris, the efficient State Superintendent of Public Buildings, is now in the midst of his annual inspection of county court-houses, preparatory to the meeting of the legislature. He finds the jails make every thing comfortable and tempting.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1874.

A POLITICAL BULL RUN

We have tried to prepare our readers to expect unwelcome news from the October elections and think that their expectations will be fully realized by the despatches given elsewhere. Up to this hour of writing, 4 A. M., a careful examination of the returns received has failed to disclose anything especially calculated to inspire the average Republican with enthusiasm over the events of yesterday, and as we really don't feel like bringing out the [illegible] flag to celebrate such victories, and as we have not confederate banners [illegible] our premises, we must let the figures speak for themselves, which they will do in a very emphatic manner.

Possibly some persons might enjoy writing an editorial disquisition at this early hour of the morning, upon such a text as is furnished in our telegraphic columns, but we haven't [illegible] just now to do the subject justice and [illegible] our readers to extract what consolation they can from the stubborn facts. We are very sure that no class of the community will be more astonished at the sweeping results in some of the States, than our Democratic fellow citizens and they may well rub their eyes over the intelligence that the Old Bay State has fallen into the hands of the Philistines. The Republican [illegible] seem to have been commanded on one wing by General Apathy and on the other by [illegible] Carelessness, and the result is a [illegible] on a large scale. The defeat of Butler as a salary grabber and [illegible] coupled with the triumph of Banks, a salary grabber [illegible], and the same [illegible] two defeated Republican Congressmen in the name of Reform have [illegible] the Tammany Ring, under Tilden and John Morrissey to the control of the Empire State.

We have not sufficient reliable returns to give an accurate report of the Congressional [illegible] but the indications point strongly to the Democratic control of the next House by a [illegible] majority.

[illegible] such a battle it will take several days to obtain an accurate account of the killed, wounded and missing, and we defer the moral [illegible] for the present. For once the Democrats have a fair excuse for exulting and they have had so few opportunities for many years that we cannot object to their manifestations of glee. As the victory is pretty sure to be short lived they will do well to make the most of it.

And we will console ourselves with the reflection that after Bull Run came Gettysburg and Appomattox.

THE [illegible] RESISTANCE CASE

[illegible] Sheriff Warren and a deputy [illegible] Mayor Warren's apothecary store at [illegible] the Mayor having concluded to [illegible] the execution of the warrant, after [illegible] such execution on Saturday. Of course no intoxicating liquors were found in the store at that time, which [illegible] not have been the case had not the [illegible] been resisted Saturday. Probably [illegible] will be proceeded against for resisting the officers. A [illegible] correspondent [illegible] says that Mayor Warren would have been justified in throwing [illegible] the facts of the officers, if they [illegible] entrance to his [illegible] store.

It is certainly very dangerous and [illegible] advice to obtain currency in a public [illegible], for Mayor Warren had no more right to resist an officer armed with a [illegible] in discharging his duty to search [illegible] of the Mayor's store, than had the [illegible] lowest citizen. Indeed, a man occupying such position as Mayor Warren and exerting so great influence, is under great obligation to set the example of obedience to the laws. [illegible] law and order, as well as to [illegible] between citizens, that Mayor Warren should be made to understand that the law reaches him as well as the poor man. We trust the officers of the law in York County will see to it that a man like Mayor Warren, above and beyond all others, shall be made to understand that neither wealth nor position can shield him from rendering obedience to law. There is a principle in [illegible] case, which renders it of great importance. The public press should be careful not to publish words calculated to justify [illegible] resistance to law.—[Lewiston Journal.]

A New York special says it is understood [illegible] lumber dealers to [illegible] that the project of restricting the product of manufactured [illegible] the coming season, has been entirely abandoned by the National Association of Lumbermen. It is also stated that no effort will be made to revive the project next year.

NEXT YEAR'S ESTIMATE. A Washington special to the Boston Advertiser says:—"Enough is now known of the character of the annual estimates to show that they will be more than ten millions less than last year. The estimates, both for the public works under the engineer bureau and those under the treasury are very much reduced. The cost of the navy remains about the same, while the army in some of its supplies was cut below its real necessities at the last session. Secretary Belknap has regulated his estimates strictly in accordance with the law. The treasury estimates have been framed exactly upon what the house gave in its last appropriation. The cost of the Indian service will not be diminished. The deficiency in the Post Office department will be increased, owing to its rapid extension and added facilities. As a total result, however, the reductions are, as stated, something over ten millions."

The Chicago Tribune in returning to the control of Mr. Medill, is pretty sure to become once more a really independent newspaper, exerting a powerful influence through its independence, while, in general, sustaining the Republican party. Mr. Medill himself says that, "in becoming again a Republican party paper, it will continue to be an independent paper—an aggressively independent paper." This is the only kind that can exert a really healthy influence and accomplish good. We trust that the era of sham independence in newspapers, which was an offshoot of those sheets that came so near being stranded by the Greeley movement to save them from utter destruction, is well nigh past. It was a morbid development that must be cured, or it will kill those affected by it.—Boston Globe.

INSURANCE CASE. In the Circuit Court at Portland, Monday, the case of Oliver Moses against the Amazon Insurance Company came up. In this case a verdict was rendered at the April term against the defendants for $1443 for loss upon stock of goods in the store of George H. Knight, equivalent to a total for all the insuring companies of $10,000. The counsel for the defendants filed a motion to set aside the verdict as against evidence, and because the damages were excessive. The motion was argued at this term of the court, and to-day Judge Fox delivered an opinion setting aside the verdict and granting a new trial.

NEWS BREVITIES.

The Boston Board of Trade have adopted a report urging the still further extension of the Signal Service.

Information has been received by the family of Hon. E. Rumsey Wing, U. S. Minister to Equador, of his death at Quinto, October 11.

The revolution continues in Venezuela. Coro has been taken by the Blues, who have also laid siege to Maracaibo in force. Gen. Yuzman and staff have returned from Puerto Cabello to Caraccas.

Despatches from Madrid, announce the return of Senor Castellar. The Carlists report they have erected four batteries of sixteen cannon before Irun, and a bombardment will be opened Wednesday at the latest.

A Selma Alabama despatch says that Diggs, County Solicitor, and Morgan, Tax Collector were arrested on the charge of conspiring to intimidate colored men from voting the independent ticket. Both were bound over.

The court martial convened some time since at Fort Sanders, for the trial of Col. Innis N. Palmer, in command of that post, found him not guilty on each of the nine charges and specifications presented by Gen. Ord.

The fires in the pine forests in the southern part of Fairfield county, Ohio, sent such a dense smoke into Lancaster, Monday, that it was found necessary to light the gas lamps. The forest fires between Bainbridge and Bournville, Ross county, have so destroyed the crops fences, live stock and houses as to leave many farmers destitute. Measures are being taken for their relief.

A despatch from Fort Garry, states that in the case of Lepine, sentenced in the Court of the Queen's Bench, the judges have denied a motion for a new trial. Lepine is to be hanged the 29th of January, for complicity in the murder of Scott, a Canadian, by Riel's Provisional Government. It is generally anticipated at Fort Garry that his punishment will be commuted by Earl Dufferin.

The vote by which the Council non concurred with the Board of Aldermen in the passage of an order relating to the "Babcock Engine" was reconsidered and the order laid on the table.

UP RIVER MATTERS.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

WINN, November 3.

On Sunday evening a quarrel between the employes of H. Poor & Son, Medway, resulted in the stabbing of George Gordon in the side, and of a severe gash on the forehead and in the arm of one Nelson inflicted by Joseph Swain. He was incited to the deed by the belligerent conduct of the other men, and was himself severely handled.

Regarding the contest in this representative district, it is understood that the Springfield votes were for Lewis F. Stratton, but returned by the clerk of the town for L. F. Stratton, while in some other parts of the district the votes were thrown for Lewis Stratton.

A road has been laid out and built across the extreme northwest corner of Washington county into the northeast corner of Drew Plantation, in Penobscot county, which is a great accommodation to the section through which it runs.

On the 15th of last month, J. H. Boyd commenced the erection of a boarding house near the mouth of the Chesuntic river, 24 by 32 feet in size, with an ell 36 feet in length, and a large mill. Both are nearly completed, and expected to start up November 2. Mr. Boyd has enough cedar in the boom for a million shingles.

H. W. Fiske and Stratton have erected a shop near Fiske's store in Mattawamkeag, the lower part for a blacksmith shop and the upper for carriage and other wood work.

Four houses have recently been built at Mattawamkeag Point, or are in process of erection.

The wife of Byron E. Floyd, formerly of Lincoln, died in Danforth, October 30.

On Monday a pugilistic encounter took place here between Moses Thomas and Seth Wyman. The former "forked over" and settled up. NOPEN.

AGRICULTURE IN GREAT BRITAIN. The English agricultural returns for 1874 have just been issued, and we take from them the following interesting summary of the statistics:—

"The grand total of the United Kingdom, not including the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands, shows that in 1874 the acreage under cultivation was 31,965,919; an increase over 1873 of 164,299 acres. Wheat occupied 3,630,800 acres, an increase of 139,920 acres. Corn crops as a whole, however, show a reduction of 37,486 acres; green crops show an increase of 4184 acres. Flax a decrease of 4299 acres; [illegible] an increase of 3567 acres; rotation grasses, a decrease of 36,076 acres; and permanent grasses, an increase of 369,068. Horses owned by land occupiers were 1,311,732, against 1,276,444 in 1873; cattle, 6,125,491, against 5,964,540 in 1873; sheep, 30,313,941, against 29,427,635; and pigs, 2,422,832, against 2,500,259 in 1873.

COLLEGE RUFFIANISM. An aggravated case of hazing occurred at Bates College, Friday night, when a party of sophomores broke into the room of C. E. Hussey, a freshman from Farmington, N. H., their purpose being to cut off his whiskers. He screamed for help, and to smother his cries they held the bed clothes about his head. Having accomplished their object, and fearing discovery by reason of his outcries, they struck and beat him in a shameful and cowardly manner, cutting several deep gashes in his head, and maltreating him to such an extent that a physician had to be summoned, and Hussey is now confined to his bed. The faculty have instituted a searching investigation, and say that the perpetrators of this cowardly act shall be summarily dealt with.

A QUIET ELECTION

BOSTON, Nov. 3. The election here and in the State is progressing quietly. There is no extraordinary excitement. There is hot fight- ing in Banks' District and Banks ahead. At Lowell an unusually large vote is being polled with doubtful chances for Ayer. Charleston at 10 o'clock gives 4 wa de, Banks, 126, Gooch, 328.

A HEAVY VOTE IN SPRINGFIELD.

SPRINGFIELD Nov 3 The election to- day has awakened extraordinary interest and a vote nearly as heavy as that for President in 1872 is being polled. Seven hundred new voters have been made in this city and as four-fifths of them are Democrats a majority of 1000 for Gaston may be expected in Spring- field. A good many Republicans are bolting Alexander, the Republican nominee for Con- gress in the 11th District, but the entire Irish ... influence of Hampden and Berkshire Counties is thrown to his favor. Indications point to the election of H S Hyde, Republi- can, and Henry Fuller, Democrat, to the State Senate from Hayden County

THE CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS—BANKS ELECTED—BUTLER DEFEATED.

Boston 7 15—P M Up to this hour Banks' majority is estimated at 1117. His friends claim a majority of 3,000. Returns thus far indicate that Buffington, Rep., in the 1st, and Harris, Rep, in the 2d District, are un- doubtedly elected. Ayer was defeated in his own town.

... A private despatch to the Adver- tiser from Essex says it is undeniable that Butler has been defeated for Congress by 1000 majority if not more.

Henry L Pierce, Republican, is elected in the ... district by over 1,700, with his own ward to hear from.

Chapin, Democrat, is elected in the 11th district by a large majority. Hoar, Rep, in the 9th is elected; Williams in the 8th; Frost in the 4th and Ayer in 7th doubtful.

BUTLER'S DEFEAT—WILLIAMS AND AYER BEHIND

9 P M—The majorities against Butler still roll in. At 8 at he was nearly 1,000 behind the ticket and his defeat is overwhelming. In the doubtful districts of Williams and Ayer as near as can be figured out both are about 1000 behind the Democratic candidates.

THE DEMOCRATS CLAIM THE STATE.

At this hour the streets are full of jubilant Democrats who persist in the belief that Gaston is elected. Newspaper offices are besieged and the excitement is greater than it has been for years.

THE STATE CLAIMED FOR GASTON

... As 112 towns give Talbot a ma- jority of only 1,650 against 7911 last year, without including Boston, Worcester or Low- ell the Democrats already claim the State for Gaston, and the Republicans are waiting for further returns. So far Talbot is ahead. The Traveller concedes the State to Gaston as this city will give him a majority from 6000 to 7000. This seems to be the general opinion, though the close vote may change the result.

PROBABLE ELECTION OF GASTON—INDICA- TIONS OF EIGHT DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS- MEN

BOSTON, Nov 3—10 P M. The Journal gives the vote of 178 towns, viz Talbot, 43,975, Gaston, 1,646, with Boston not in- cluded, and concedes 6,000 majority to Gas- ton in this city. It says unless the "back towns come up nobly" before morning the result will be the election of Mr. Gaston and the defeat of all the Republican candidates for Congress except H. L. Pierce, B. W. Har- ris and Jas Buffinton. The Herald says Ayer is undoubtedly defeated by Tarbox, Dem

THE LEGISLATURE

The Republicans have elected 3 State Representatives and 2 Senators. The Demo- crats 11 Representatives and 3 Senators.

HOAR BARELY ELECTED.

Geo F Hoar carries the 9th district by 277 majority with two towns to hear from, which will not alter the result

GASTON'S ELECTION CONCEDED

11 P M Returns from ... towns, give Talbot, 7 ... Gaston, 3 ... Same towns last year gave Washburn, 4 ..., Gaston, 31,- 00. These figures do not include the vote in Boston. The last returns of this city are Talbot, 10,460; Gaston, 16,400. Mr. Gaston leads on these returns about 2,000 and on all sides his election is conceded with a probable majority of from 5,000 to 8,000

CONGRESSMEN

Frost's election in the 4th district is claim- ed, but it will be very close

Butler is badly beaten, Thompson having a majority of 1,000, with only one small town to hear from.

Banks has made a clean sweep in the 5th district, Gooch not carrying a single town except his own. Williams and Alexander are ... defeated by small majorities. Ayer is defeated in the Seventh District.

THE JUBILANT DEMOCRATS.

Later returns do not change results as foreshadowed in the earlier reports. The cities of Lynn and Salem are in a blaze of excitement with bon fires, bells ringing, firing of guns, and streets thronged with crowds of people cheering and otherwise expressing their joy. In Boston crowds have dispersed ... with election news and astonished at the result

THE LATEST ESTIMATES—7000 MAJORITY FOR GASTON—PROBABLE LOSS OF SIX CONGRESSMEN—LEGISLATURE REPUBLI- CAN

Boston, Nov 4—2 A M. A full return will be very late. Some small towns are yet to hear from, but it is considered their vote can- not possibly affect Gaston's majority of at least 4,000. Gaston is in town and was pub- licly congratulated to-night.

In the Congressional Districts the follow- ing may be accepted as positive. 1st, Buffin- ton, Rep, elected by a large maj ... 2d, Harris, Rep, elected by ... 3d, Pierce, Rep, by reduced majority, the 4th district very close, Frost securing election by 30 majority, 5th district, Banks, Ind, 5,000 majority, 6th district, Thompson, Dem., beat Butler by at least 1,500, 7th district, Tarbox, Dem., elect- ed by 2000 to 1500, 8th district, Warren, Dem, elected by a large majority, 9th dis- trict, Hoar, Rep., elected by 377 majority, 10th district, Seelye, Ind, elected over Stev- ens, Rep, by 940 majority; 11th district Chapin, Dem., elected over Alexander, Rep

The House will be Republican, in favor of license, and the Senate will be about equally divided

NEW YORK.

A FULL VOTE DRAWN OUT.

ALBANY, Nov. 3. The weather here is very pleasant, and the election is progressing quietly, drawing out a full vote.

THE STATE CLAIMED FOR DIX BY 1000 MA- JORITY.

NEW YORK, 3 50. Everything quiet; polls close in half an hour, a very heavy vote has been polled, and the city is claimed for Til- den by from 20,000 to 30,000 majority. The republicans claim the State by from 10,000 to 14,000 majority for Dix.

HEAVY DEMOCRATIC GAINS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3, 8 P. M. Fifty-four districts outside of the city of New York give a net gain of 1212 for Tilden over last year. His majority may exceed 30,000 in the State.

LARGE MAJORITY CLAIMED FOR TILDEN.

Scattering returns from the interior show uniform gains for Tilden, who is certainly elected by 30,000 majority.

Wickham, democrat, is undoubtedly mayor by a large majority, over both Wales and Ot- tendorfer. For register the election is close, returns to the present moment favoring Jones, republican, over Hayes, democrat.

THE UTICA DISTRICT

Lord, Democrat for Congress is estimated to have 1,000 majority in the city of Utica and is probably elected over Ellis H Roberts.

DEMOCRATIC DISTRICTS.

It is believed that Abram S. Hewitt, Tam- many, is elected to Congress in the Tenth District over James O'Brien, anti-Tammany Democrat.

Smith Ely, Jr., Democrat, is elected to Congress in the Seventh Congressional Dis- trict by 2 500 majority over C S. Spencer, Repub- lican

KINGS COUNTY REFORM—A DISGRACED OFFICIAL RE-ELECTED.

Kings county has gone 10,000 Democratic Winchester Britton who was displaced by Gov Dix, is probably elected District Attor- ney. Quell for Congress has about 2,000 majority in the 2 ... district

CITY VOTES.

The city of Troy gives Tilden 1,000 major- ity, a gain of 800. The city of Syracuse gives Dix 891 majority, a Republican gain of 1,078.

THE GENERAL RESULT—OVER 40 000 MAJOR- ITY FOR TILDEN

The city and State complete, give Governor Dix, 45 157, Tilden, 87,246. Mayor Wickham, Dem 69 887, Wales, 35 339; Ottendorfer, 27,782. For Register, Hayes, Dem., 61,036, Jones, Rep, 71,425

MORE AND WORSE.

The Democrats carry two-thirds of the Congressmen from this State, and have 20 majority in the Assembly. This insures a Democratic Senator as a successor to Fenton.

Tilden's majority in the State may exceed 41,000.

LOUISIANA

HOW DEMOCRATS LABOR FOR A FAIR ELECTION

NEW YORK, Nov 3. A Washington des- patch says that Judge Edmonds, late last night, received the following from Marshal Packard, at New Orleans: "Intimidation has been reduced the black vote in New Or- leans. The skull and cross bones placarded throughout the streets late last night terrified many. Employers made their black servants and employees go with them to the polls and vote the Democratic ticket, on pain of dis- charge. There were bold threats of armed leagues at the polls, and every means short of constraining interference was resorted to. A full Republican vote was polled in the river parishes, where there was no intimidation. The steamboats Lee, Pike and Katy were kept up the river last night to prevent their large black crews from voting. The White League captured the ballot box in ward 12 in Baton Rouge, the strongest Republican ward, and stole the books and poll list at Farmers- ville, in Union parish, where a heavy black vote was certain because troops were station- ed there."

A DESPATCH TO THE REPUBLIC CLAIMS THAT THE STATE HAS GONE REPUBLI- CAN BY A HANDSOME MAJORITY.

The Republic has the following from New Orleans at midnight.—The State of Louisi- ana has gone Republican by a handsome ma- jority, despite the violence, and intimidation universally exerted in several parishes. A Republican Legislature is secured, and out of six Congressmen we have certainly secured four. No news has been received from cer- tain parishes, though easily accessible by tel- egraph, and this silence is regarded as omin- ous of violence on the part of the White League.

THIS IS THE WAY DEMOCRATS SPEAK OF THEIR ELECTION SCHEMES.

Members of the Democratic State Central Committee have not hesitated to say openly "If our scheme has worked right we have a majority of votes on Red River, and the rad- icals a majority of dead men."

COWARDLY ATTACK ON ATTORNEY GENERAL FIELD.

About 9 30 o'clock to-night as Attorney General Field was quietly passing along Char- tres street he was suddenly attacked by a party of White Leaguers. Despite his age Mr. Field made a bold resistance, and on the approach of Metropolitan police the ruffians fled

THE LARGE CLAIMS OF THE DEMOCRATS.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov 3 The returns in- dicate 15,000 Conservative majority in this city. Gibson in the 1st, and Ellis in the 2d districts each go out of the city with over 6000 majority, and their election is regarded as certain by the Conservatives. They also claim the election of Levy in the 4th district, Spencer in the 5th and Moore in the 6th Congressional districts, conceding the elec- tion of Darrell in the 3d. The Conservatives claim 10 of the State Senators and at least 63 members of the House. They elect 23 Representatives in the city.

THE DEMOCRATS CLAIM FIVE CONGRESS- MEN.

The Congressional delegations will prob- ably stand 5 Democrats to 1 Republican.

It is believed that Nash is the only Repub- lican elected to Congress.

VIRGINIA.

A LIGHT VOTE—THE NEGROES KEEPING AWAY FROM THE POLLS.

RICHMOND, Nov. 3. The voting is compar- atively light here, the negroes especially keeping away from the polls. This indicates a large majority in Richmond for Walker over Burgess for Congress.

The returns from all precincts in the city give Walker, Democrat, 1348 majority.

The whites to-day polled an average vote in this city, but the colored vote has fallen off greatly.

THE CONGRESSMEN—SLIGHT CHANGE PROBABLE

Returns are meagre, but indicate the elec- tion of Walker in 3d District, Tucker in 6th, Harris in 7th, Hunter in 8th and Terry in 9th, all Conservatives. It is more than prob- able that Sener, Rep., is elected in 1st District. The 2d District is doubtful, with probabili- ties against Platt, Rep. Stowell, Rep., is elected in the 4th District. In the 5th the contest is close, but favorable to the election of Thomas, Rep.

The election in Richmond was the most orderly ever known

TENNESSEE.

A LARGE DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY INDI- CATED.

MEMPHIS, Nov 2 Up to noon the elec- tion progressed very quietly. Business is generally suspended. The indications are that the Conservative ticket will be elected by a large majority.

A LIGHT VOTE LEWIS REPORTED DE- FEATED.

The election was unusually quiet, with a considerable falling off from the August vote. The democrats claim a majority of 2000 in the city, and the election of Col. Casey Young to Congress by 1500 majority. His competi- tor, Hon. Barbour Lewis, carried the district in 1872 by a majority of 3700. His defeat to- day is attributed to the civil rights bill, and the well known conservatism of Col. Young, many republicans, both white and black, hav- ing worked and voted for the latter

THE GOVERNOR, LEGISLATURE AND EIGHT CONGRESSMEN ELECTED.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 3. The election passed off quietly. The vote throughout the State is at least one-quarter less than in August. The Democrats carry the State by 25,000 to 30,000 majority, electing the entire Congressional delegation except the 1st and 2d districts which are doubtful. Both branches of the Legislature are largely Democratic.

THE MAJORITIES

MEMPHIS, Nov. 3. Young, Democrat in the 10th Congressional district, will have 3,500 majority; Caldwell, Democrat, is elected in the 9th Congressional district; and White- house, Democrat, is elected in the 7th district by 5,000 majority.

ALABAMA.

BLOODY RIOTING—THE BLACKS FURNISH THE VICTIMS.

EUFAULA, Nov. 3 A riot occurred at the polls to-day at noon, originating in an attempt by a negro to whip another negro for voting the Democratic ticket. The assailant drew a pistol, and the result was three negroes killed, four mortally, seven seriously, and eight slightly wounded. One white was mortally, one seriously and three slightly wounded. Some five or six hundred shots were fired.

EASILY SUPPRESSED—ONLY TWO NEGROES KILLED.

MOBILE, Nov. 3. The city and county of Mobile have gone Democratic by 1,200 ma- jority. Two riots were caused by negroes at- tempting to rescue a negro repeater from a U. S. Marshal. The riot was easily sup- pressed. Two negroes were killed.

The Democrats claim 5 Congressmen, a gain of 2

RHODE ISLAND.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 3. Benj. L. Eames, Representative, is elected to Congress in the 1st district, and Latimer W. Ballou, Repre- sentative in the 2d district; both Republicans. The vote was light.

GEORGIA.

AUGUSTA, Nov. 3. About 900 votes were polled in this city, nearly all for A. H. Steph- ens for Congress, who may really be consid- ered elected without opposition.

Hartridge, democrat, in the 1st district, has a majority estimated at 3000. No disturb- ances

In the 3d, 5th and 6th Districts Cook, Candlers and Blount, Democrats, are elected to Congress. The Republican candidates will contest Candlers' election. In the 7th Dis- trict the Independent Democrat leads the regular Democrat by over 1000.

LATEST

Returns indicate an undivided Democratic delegation to Congress.

SOUTH CAROLINA

NO DEFINITE RETURNS

CHARLESTON, Nov. 3 It is impossible yet to approximate the result of the election in this State. In this city John T. Green, Fusion, for Governor, beats D. H. Chamber- lain, Republican by over 5 000 majority. The Conservatives are confident of having elected two Congressmen. The election is remark- ably quiet

LATEST

Returns from all parts of the State exhibit heavy Conservative gains. The result for Governor is in doubt.

Kershaw, Dem, in the 1st District, is cer- tainly, and McGowan, Dem, in the 3d, prob- ably, elected to Congress. In the Charleston District, Mackey, Fusion, beats Butts, Rep. Small, Rep, is elected in the 5th, and Rai- ney's re-election in the 1st District is doubt- ful

ARKANSAS.

MEAGRE RETURNS.

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 3 The election passed off without disturbance, and a full vote was polled. The vote in this city was close between Wm. W. Welshire, democrat, and Wm. J. Hynes, republican, for Congress. The chances are that Hynes carries Pulaski county. In Faulkner county Welshire runs largely ahead. The democrats claim his elec- tion by a large majority. No reports from other districts.

MISSOURI.

NO RETURNS.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3. The election here pass- ed off quietly. An unusually large vote was polled, but owing to the length of the ticket it will be very late before returns can be obtained. At 11 o'clock not one precinct was heard from. Advices from the State are too meagre to indicate the result in any section

KANSAS

It is estimated that Parrott, Reform, for Congress has 700 majority.

PENNSYLVANIA.

THE ELECTION BARREN OF EXCITEMENT.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3. The election is progressing very quietly, and is entirely bar- ren of excitement. Under the new election law the polling places number one hundred, and there being no hourly announcement of the state of the polls, nothing can be known to base any calculation upon until the polls close. There is much scratching.

RETURNS TARDY.

The election in this city passed off quietly and but few disturbances occurred to-night. The result of the election in this city is not yet definitely known, but the city has gone probably Republican.

Randall, Dem., for Congress, has 485 major- ity in the 11th Ward. Chester county re- elects Washington Townsend Representative to Congress by 1,500 to 2,000 majority. The 27th Ward gives Kelley, Representative for Congress 709 majority. In the Wards of Altoona, Reilly, Dem, has 270 majority Berks county gives Clymer, Dem, 4 000 majority for Congress; and Northumberland county gives Packer, Dem., 270 majority.

WISCONSIN

THE STATE REPUBLICAN—NO CONGRESS- IONAL CHANGE.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 3 The returns indi- cate that the Republicans have elected Wil- liams in the 1st Congressional District, Cas- well in the 2d, Magoon in the 3d, Rusk in the 7th and McDill in the 8th. The Democrats elect Lynde in the 4th and Burchard in the 5th. The 6th District is close and doubtful, with chances in favor of Kimball, Rep.

There is strong probability that the Repub- licans will have a majority on the joint ballot in the Legislature, thus securing a Republi- can U. S. Senator to succeed Carpenter— There is little doubt that the Republicans will have a majority in the State at large.

Republicans claim Legislature and that the Congress delegation is unchanged. The 6th District is close, however.

ILLINOIS.

INCOMPLETE RETURNS.

CHICAGO, Nov 3. Returns from the city and county indicate the election of the Dem- ocratic county ticket by 6000 or 7000 majori- ty, though Ward in the Second and Farwell in the Third district (both Rep.) for Congress are re-elected by small majorities. Caulfield, Dem, for Congress is elected by a fair majority

The returns from the State at large are very meagre, but indicate much scratching done. In some localities there are reported full majorities, and in others considerable Democratic gains. The returns indicate the election of Clements (Rep) for Congress in the 13th district.

Returns up to midnight indicate that in Congressional Districts 1, 3, 4 5, 8, 9, 14, Re- publicans are elected; with probability that Democrats have carried Districts 7. 10, 11, 13, 15, 17, 18, with Anderson, Ind., in 19th. The Republican State ticket is undoubtedly elect- ed, but it is impossible to say by what ma- jority.

VERMONT

DENISON ELECTED.

RUTLAND, Nov 3 Returns from thirty- seven towns in the Second Congressional District give Denison, Rep., 5,229; Poland, 1,547; McLane, Dem, 1035. There are eighty-one towns in the District. The plur- ality elects at this election. Denison is elec- ted without a doubt by a large majority.

NEW JERSEY.

THE STATE DEMOCRATIC

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 Hudson county, N J, gives Bedle for Governor, 3,000 majori- ty. The Democrats carry the State.

In the 6th District, Teese, Dem, is elected over Ward, Rep., and in the 7th Harden- bergh, Dem., is elected by a large majority.

FLORIDA.

NOTHING DEFINITE.

AUGUSTA, Nov. 3. Returns from Florida are meagre and unsatisfactory, and there is nothing definite to night. Finly, Dem., is probably elected in the 1st District.

DELAWARE

The State is probably solidly Democratic.

KENTUCKY

The Democrats have probably elected all, of the 10 Congressmen.

TEXAS.

DEATH OF MRS. C. B. ABBOTT. A very large circle of friends in this city and vicinity, will be surprised and grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. C. B. Abbott, at Hamburg, on the 10th of October, two days after the arrival of the steamer, from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy during the voyage from New York. After the death of her husband Mrs. Abbott decided to join her daughter now residing in Dresden, but was unable to com- plete her preparations for departure until the latter part of September. Her assiduous care of her husband during his distressing sick- ness and the affliction caused by the death of the beloved partner of a lifetime, proved a severe strain to a delicate physical organiza- tion, which gave way during the sad voyage across the ocean. She was met at Hamburg by her daughter and son in law, but survived only for the brief time mentioned above. The deceased was a most estimable and amiable lady and will be mourned by all who knew her.

Stillman C. Archer vs. William McLaugh- lin. Trespass for an assault by defendant upon plaintiff on a certain Sunday evening last December, growing out of a division of the Sunday School at West Bangor, under circumstances that engendered considerable feeling among the people in that locality. The plaintiff and defendant as representatives of of the respective Sunday Schools, laid claim to the right of possession in certain lamps that belonged to the school when united, or individual members thereof. From high words the parties came to a personal collision in which the lamps were broken and the claim of both parties thus settled on the spot. There was considerable and conflicting testi- mony on both sides, insomuch that the jury after being out five hours returned a verdict of one cent damages for plaintiff.

From a Distinguished Lawyer of Boston.

MR. FRANK KINSMAN. Dear Sir—I desire to say a word in behalf of your Adamson's Cough Balsam. I have been a sufferer from a very severe cough from the first of last November, trying a great many pre- parations without any considerable or permanent improvement, until the middle of March, when a friend brought this balsam to my notice. I tried the small sample bottle which Mr. Goodwin gave me, and I had no occasion to try any more, for within two ... from taking the first dose, the cough entirely left me. The result seemed little less than miraculous. I have sent more than a score of sufferers to Mr. Goodwin's No 38 Hanover st., for the remedy, and so far as I learn, in every instance with marked success.

Respectfully yours, CHAS C NUTTER

TWO BABIES.

BY FANNY BARROW

Little winsome baby Fay
Like a snow white rosebud lay
In her mother's arms all day.

Alice, dancing up and down—
Rosy, merry, dimpling, brown—
Breaks her playthings, tears her gown.

O the eyes of little Fay!
Solemn, sweet, and dream-like they,
Telling mysteries alway

Alice's eyes are wildly bright,
Full of frank and fearless light,
Scarcely will they close at night.

Fay so gently shows her love,
Cooing, nestling like a dove,
She your very heart would move

Alice with a tightened strain
Hugs with thy might and main—
Kisses, laughs—and hugs again

Watching each in her own way,
Alice and the little Fay
One so gentle—one so gay.

Heavenly Father give these flowers
Summer days and rainbow showers,
Let the clouds and storms be ours

THE STORY OF AN OLD YOUNG MAN

BY LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON

Joseph Hannaford was an old young man. Care and responsibility had come to him early in life, for he was not more than sixteen when his father died, and left his mother and his young sister to his keeping. There was property enough for them all, to be sure; but it was chiefly in land and stock, and needed Joseph's vigilant superintendence to make it profitable. This superintendence he gave faithfully and willingly, and never once complained tha. to do so forced him to resign sundry secretly cherished personal ambitions of his own. But all his responsibility wrought its own work upon his nature—made him provident, thoughtful, calculating, thrifty—precisely an old young man.

This state of things continued for ten years. Then his sister married, and removed to the next town. His mother desired to accompany her, and was only prevented by the difficulty which attended obtaining a suitable housekeeper for Joseph.

You perceive, therefore, that at twenty-six Mr. Joseph Hannaford was just in a position where marriage became convenient and desirable. Oth[illegible], I rather think, he was quite too well di[illegible] ... to have cherished any idle fancies or importunate longings.

Whether before this epoch, he had ever suffered any truant thoughts to wander in the direction of Miss Carrie Fay, who had been growing towards her sweet womanhood not very far away from his door I cannot conjecture. I only know that about this time he began to discover that her eyes were blue, and her hair golden, her cheeks were flower[s] o[f] the peach, and her lips blossomed with a sweetness which he longed to taste. He told her these things in some discreet fashion of his own, and she—he was her first lover, and the right of discovery has gone far a good deal in all ages.

Every one said he was making a great mistake. The neighbors thought they knew what he wanted a great deal better than he himself did and were sure that a good, strong thrifty girl, used to working and saving, would be just the one for him. Carrie was pretty, and fanciful, and dainty. She was an orphan, but an uncle who had no children of his own, had kept her from feeling any sense of loneliness or desolation by his constant and fatherly kindness. Under his roof she had grown up to seventeen years, and at that period the old young man came along, and wooed and won her.

Her uncle felt secretly uncomfortable, for he understood just what Carrie was better than any one else did, and he knew that it would be no easy matter to make a work bee out of a golden winged butterfly. But, on the other hand, Carrie was evidently in love with her suitor and Mr. Hannaford was certainly well to do—quite able to marry to please himself, and make his wife comfortable in her own way afterwards.

So, in due time, the wedding took place, and Carry Hannaford went away to her new home, where, before very long, a change came over the spirit of her dream.

She had begun by first idealizing, and then adoring her lord and master. He was certainly well looking, in a kind of regular, massive way. His face had in it not much suggestion of sentiment. His eyes were clear and shrewd, though kind, and his lips were firm and rather thin. He knew beauty when he saw it, but he would never be ruled through his senses. His features were well-shaped. There was power in his face. He was a man who knew how to say no to himself and to others. There was a manly vigor and symmetry in his well knit frame, and, in short he possessed a good many of the attributes which go to the making up of a girl's hero. But Mistress Carrie reckoned without her host when she proposed to make a post-matrimonial lover of him.

He evidently did not believe in connubial love making. Philandering, as he called it, was not to his taste. Courting was very well in its way. It had not been without its sky-lights, even for him. But they were married now, and it was time to settle down, and begin life as they could hold out. Their wedding day was in September, and when the late October winds blew away the sapless, withered leaves Carrie felt as if her hopes, which had blossomed so fairly, were blowing with the leaves, and withered as they, down the wind.

She was a conscientious, well intentioned little creature, and she tried her best to put aside all these feelings, which she taught herself to believe were morbid and ungrateful. She was certainly striving to justify Joseph, making little pleas for him at the bar of her heart. He was nine years older than she, it would not be natural for him to have so much romance. Of course he loved her, why else would he have married her? What a goose she was to expect of a big, strong, busy man the little softnesses which belong to and delight women. Then she would try to be brave, make a pretty little toilet, perhaps wear the dress and the ribbons he had praised six months ago, and meet him, her eyes bright with hope, her cheeks pink with expectation. Was he blind to all this—such an old young man that the sweet devices of youth had no longer for him any language? At any rate, he made no sign.

How dull, and prosy, and commonplace were the long winter evenings which they passed together. They got through supper, and were seated before the Franklin stove in their little sitting room, at six o'clock, punctually and there for three mortal hours they sat in unbroken quiet, he reading his newspapers through and through, and she watching him, and wondering, wondering, wondering whether she was to go on at this dead level forever. Punctually as the clock struck nine, he would get up, light his lantern, and go his mighty rounds among cows, and oxen, and horses. Then he would come in, take off his boots leisurely, warm his feet at the open fire, and go to bed. She grew to hate the precise epoch at which he pulled off his boots. It seemed to her that just up to that pass she could bear on silently, but as if then she must utter some outcry, or silence and constraint would choke her.

Once or twice she made some few forlorn attempts to better the condition of things—brighten them up, if possible. Once she planned the beguilement of a little supper. Having made all ready beforehand, while he was out upon his evening round, she stewed some oysters and brewed some coffee, fondly fancying her small feast would be a success; but the wise old young gentleman would not see the fun. He did not believe in oysters at bed time, they would disagree with him, he knew. As for coffee, he was sure a single cup would keep him awake all night; but if Carrie could take such things at nine o'clock, and not have them hurt her he had not the slightest objection. So, with no heart to taste it herself, she carried away her little treat, and if a few tears cooled the coffee she had poured for him in vain, he at least was not the wiser.

Slowly the winter wore away—"the long, sad season of snows and sins." Birds came back from over seas, and began to sing. Violets opened shy blossoms. Grass-blades sprang up greenly; and even Carrie Hannaford brightened with the brightening of nature and began to remember that she herself was young.

One day in May, her husband came to her with the proposal that they should take a summer boarder. He put the matter in the most ungracious way, as is the matrimonial wont of precisely this class of men. As she would be saving a hired girl any way, he said—and he used, in saying it, a tone which made her feel herself a monster of extravagance—they might just as well have something to keep her busy; and this boarder who wanted to come, this Mr. Hugh Waring, would pay well and make very little trouble. He knew this, because three years ago, in his mother's time, Waring had boarded with them for several months.

Of course, Mistress Carrie consented—for what could she do else?—and kept secret her own dissatisfaction with the prospect before her.

It only took Mr. Waring's arrival, however, to reconcile her to his presence. With his first deference bow over her hand, she became his willing hostess. He was a person of such type as the young wife had never before, in her short, quiet life, encountered—a man of wealth and leisure, high-bred scholarly, and belonging to the ancient Order of Gentlemen. He was a handsomer man, too, than one often meets, with his clearly cut features, his warm coloring, and the chestnut hair and flowing beard, which the eye matched.

He was not an old young man. Impulse was strong within him; discipline had not yet taught him discretion. When he felt strongly, he would speak strongly and perhaps, act recklessly; but, under ordinary circumstances, he had the aplomb and the cool self-possession of a man of the world.

Very soon he began to perceive that to board with the Hannafords now was a slightly different thing from what it had been in the administration of Joseph Hannaford's self-contained mother and staid sister. Joseph Hannaford's wife was altogether another order of woman. It may be questioned whether she would have made any serious impression on him had he met her as Miss Carry Fay. But, since her marriage, a soul-subduing pathos had grown into her look which somehow went to his heart. Perhaps, too, the strongest appeal which can be made to a man's chivalry, is the sight of a sad and disappointed woman, who neither parades nor confesses her misery.

Hugh Waring was not a bad man. In some respects, indeed, his heart and his life were purer and fresher than those of most men. He certainly meant no harm to his fair young hostess. He would not have added a feather's weight to the burden which had already borne so hardly upon her life.—But he commenced by pitying her; and Love has been Pity's neighbor ever since the world began.

He was tender and gentle to her as no one had ever been before. He was not too busy to notice the blush roses in her hair, or the blushes on her cheeks. If she liked a wild flower he had brought home, he made light of a long tramp to fetch her its kindred.—While she sewed, he read to her, and taught her to love Keats, and Shelley, and Browning. At night fall he used to sing to her—while her husband was busy about the late "chores" with which a New England farmer fills up the summer twilights—sweet, suggestive love-songs, and old ballads which have faltered down through the centuries their tearful music.

All this time I doubt if he had thought of danger for himself or her. She, certainly, never had. Her delight was pure and sweet. She would have said, if any one had questioned her, that Mr. Waring was her friend, the best friend she had ever had, but unquestioned, she did not say even so much as that to herself. She scarcely knew that it was summer with her heart, as well as with the year, or the summer days were flying fast.

Nor did anything in the aspect of affairs make her husband uneasy. To do this young man, whom perhaps circumstances rather than nature, had made old, justice, he was neither mean nor ungenerous. His confidence in this young wife of his was perfect.—She loved him; she was his to have and to hold, why should he grudge her a few hours which some one else made pleasant, after a fashion not his own? I do not think he was likely to lose anything by this generosity, on that any amount of suspicious espionage on his part would have served his own cause better.

There came, at last, an evening of revelation to the two who were going on so blindly, or perhaps it had come to Waring before. He had sat silently through the sunset, watching the play of the warm light on Mrs. Hannaford's fair face and golden hair. She looked wonderfully young and helpless, with her extreme delicacy, her appealing eyes, and her soft white dress, made as simply as a babe's, and girdled with a blue ribbon. A languor, born perhaps of the summer heats, oppressed her. She drooped towards him, leaning her head upon her hand, and looking frail as a snow-wreath which a wind might blow away. Waring sat mutely, as I said, and watched her, until the sunset lights had gone out of her hair, and a curious awe began to steal over him, as he saw her through the gathering shadows, white, and still, and unearthly as a spirit. Then, out of the dim darkness, his voice came to her in a sort of chant, too low and even to be a song.—

"Sweet is true love, though given in vain, in vain,
And sweet is death that puts an end to pain;
I know not which is sweeter—no, not I.

"Love, art thou sweet? then bitter death must be,
Love, thou art bitter, sweet is death to me.
Oh, love if death be sweeter, let me die.

"Sweet love, that seems not made to fade away—
Sweet death that seems to make us loveless clay,
I know not which is sweeter—no, not I.

Her tears were falling fast before he had finished. A spell was upon her which she did not understand, and could not evade.—Still, she kept silence and waited for his words—words which, when they came, pierced her like a sword.

"Mrs. Hannaford, I think I must go away to-morrow. It is midsummer, and all the hay is down."

"But I thought," she faltered timidly, "you were to stay the summer through."

"So I should, if all things had been as of old. It is not good for me to be here under the new regime."

"I have tried," she began, and then she stopped. Her tears choked her. She could not go on and tell him, in simple commonplaces, that she had tried to make him comfortable.

"If you had done no more than you tried to do, all would have been well," he cried, his tones fervent with sudden passion. "I saw you just what you were, and you husband just what he was. I saw how much it it was in you to give to some man; how little you were even asked to give to him. God help us both, for I have learned to love you. I covet my neighbor's wife—I dare not stay here."

She said nothing, but he heard through the stillness the bitterness which she strove to smother. It was more than he could bear. He crossed over to her, but he did not take her in his arms. Some shield of purity was about her which still held him away from her, though he was close at her side.

"Carrie," he said, calling her for the first time by her name, "I must go away to-morrow, but you shall go, too, if you will. Your love would be worth to me any sacrifice. What would mine be worth to you? You know how much your husband cares for you. You have seen what life with him is—Do you think it would break his heart to lose you? I tell you, no. He would very composedly get a divorce from you, and marry more wisely next time. You would be free in a few months, and the moment you were free, you should be my wife. So help me God, I would deal honorably with you. Don't you believe me?"

He caught a low "Yes," murmured under her breath.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES,

Passed at the First Session of the Forty-third Congress.

TREATY between the United States of America and the Republic of Peru. Friendship, Commerce and Navigation. Concluded September 6, 1870. Ratification advised by Senate March 31, 1871. Ratified by President April 11, 1871. Ratified by President of Peru May 28, 1874. Time for exchange of ratifications extended June 5, 1873. Ratifications exchanged at Lima May 28, 1874. Proclaimed July 27, 1874.

The time originally fixed for the exchange of the ratifications having unavoidably elapsed, was extended, by a formal agreement of the parties to November 6, 1874, within which time that ceremony took place, in the usual form.

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation, between the United States of America and the Republic of Peru, was concluded and signed by their respective Plenipotentiaries at Lima on the sixth day of September in the year eighteen hundred and seventy, the original of which treaty, being in the English and Spanish languages, is word for word, as follows:

Treaty of friendship, commerce, and navigation between the United States of America and the Republic of Peru.

The United States of America and the Republic of Peru, being equally animated with the desire to render firm and permanent the peace and friendship which have always so happily existed between them and to place their commercial relations upon the most liberal basis, have resolved to fix clear and precise rules, which shall in future be religiously observed between the two nations, by means of a treaty of friendship, commerce, and navigation. To attain this desirable object, the President of the United States of America has conferred full powers on Alvin P. Hovey, the accredited Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary on the said State to the Government of Peru, and the President of Peru has conferred like full powers upon Dr. Jose Jorge Loayza, Minister of Foreign Affairs; who, after exchanging their respective full powers, found to be in good and true form, have agreed upon and concluded the following articles:

ARTICLE I.

There shall be perfect and perpetual peace and friendship between the United States of America and the Republic of Peru, and between their respective territories, people, and citizens, without distinction of persons or places.

ARTICLE II.

The United States of America and the Republic of Peru mutually agree that there shall be reciprocal liberty of commerce and navigation between their respective territories and citizens, the citizens of either republic may frequent with their vessels all the coasts, ports and places of the other, wherever foreign commerce is permitted, and reside in all parts of the territory of either, and occupy the dwellings and warehouses which they may require, and everything belonging thereto shall be respected, and shall not be subject to any arbitrary visits or search. The said citizens shall have full liberty to trade in all parts of the territories of either, according to the rules established by the respective regulations of commerce in all kinds of goods, merchandise, manufactures, and produce not prohibited to all, and to open retail stores and shops under the same municipal and police regulations as native citizens, and they shall, not in this respect be liable to any other or higher taxes or imposts than those which are or may be paid by native citizens. The citizens of either country shall also have the unrestrained right to travel in any part of the possessions of the other, and shall in all cases enjoy the same security and protection as the natives of the country wherein they reside, on condition of their submitting to the laws and ordinances there prevailing; they shall not be called upon for any forced loan or extraordinary contribution for any military expedition, or for any public purpose whatever, nor shall they be liable to any embargo, or be detained with their vessels, cargoes, merchandise, goods, or effects, without being allowed therefor a full and sufficient indemnification, which shall in all cases be agreed upon and paid in advance.

ARTICLE III.

The two high contracting parties hereby bind and engage themselves not to grant any favor, privilege, or immunity whatever, in matters of commerce and navigation, to other nations, which shall not be immediately extended also to the citizens of the other contracting party, who shall enjoy the same, gratuitously if the concession shall have been gratuitous; or on giving a compensation as nearly as possible of proportionate value and effect, to be adjusted by mutual agreement, if the concession shall have been conditional.

ARTICLE IV.

No higher or other duties, or charges on account of tonnage, light houses or harbor dues, pilotage, quarantine, salvage in case of damage or shipwreck, or any other local charges, shall be imposed in any ports of Peru, on vessels of the United States, than those payable in the same ports by Peruvian vessels, nor in any of the ports of the United States by Peruvian vessels than shall be payable in the same ports by vessels of the United States.

ARTICLE V.

All kinds of merchandise and articles of commerce which may be lawfully imported into the ports and territories of either of the high contracting parties in national vessels may also be so imported in vessels of the other party without paying other or higher duties or charges, of any kind or denomination whatever, than if the same merchandise and articles of commerce were imported in national vessels; nor shall any distinction be made in the manner of making payment of the said duties or charges. It is expressly understood that the stipulations in this and the preceding article are to their full extent applicable to the vessels, and their cargoes, belonging to either of the high contracting parties arriving in the ports and territories of the other, whether the said vessels have cleared directly from the ports of the country to which they appertain, or from the ports of any other nation.

ARTICLE VI.

No labor or other duties or charges shall be imposed or levied upon the importation into the ports and territories of either of the high contracting parties of any article, the produce, growth or manufacture of the other party, than are, or shall be, payable on the like article, being the produce, growth, or manufacture of any other country, nor shall any prohibition be imposed upon the importation of any article, the produce, growth, or manufacture of either party, into the ports or territories of the other, which shall not equally extend to all other nations.

ARTICLE VII.

All kinds of merchandise and articles of commerce which may be lawfully exported from the ports and territories of either of the high contracting parties in national vessels, may also be exported in vessels of the other party; and they shall be subject to the same duties only, and be entitled to the same drawbacks bounties, and allowances, whether the same merchandise and articles of commerce be exported in vessels of the one party or in vessels of the other party.

ARTICLE VIII.

It is hereby declared that the stipulations of the present treaty are not to be understood as applying to the navigation and coasting trade between one port and another, situated in the territories of either contracting party, the regulation of such navigation and trade being reserved respectively by the parties according to their own separate laws. Vessels of either country shall, however, be permitted to discharge part of their cargoes at one port open to foreign commerce in the territories of either of the high contracting parties, and to proceed with the remainder of their cargo to any other port or ports of the same territories open to foreign commerce, without paying other or higher tonnage dues or port charges in such cases than would be paid by national vessels in like circumstances, and they shall be permitted to load in like manner at different ports in the same voyage outward.

ARTICLE IX.

The Republic of Peru, desiring to increase the intercourse along its coasts by means of steam navigation, hereby engages to accord to any citizen or citizens of the United States, who may establish a line of steam vessels to navigate regularly between the different ports of entry within the Peruvian territories the same privileges of taking in and landing freight and cargo, entering the by-ports for the purpose of receiving and landing passengers and their baggage, specie and bullion, carrying the public mails, establishing depots for coal, erecting the necessary machine and work shops for repairing and refitting the steam vessels, and all other favors enjoyed by any other association or company whatsoever. It is furthermore understood between the two high contracting parties that the steam vessels of either shall not be subject in the ports of the other party to any duties of harbor, or other similar duties, whatsoever, than those that are or may be paid by any other association or company.

ARTICLE X.

For the better understanding of the preceding articles, and taking into consideration the actual state of the commercial marine of Peru, it is stipulated and agreed that every vessel belonging exclusively to a citizen or citizens of the said republic, and of which the captain is also a citizen of the same though the construction of the crew is or may be foreign, shall be considered, for all of the objects of this treaty, as a Peruvian vessel.

ARTICLE XI.

The merchants, commanders or masters of vessels and other citizens of either contracting party, shall be wholly free to manage their own business and affairs in all ports and places within the jurisdiction of the other, or to commit their business and affairs to the management of any person whom they may choose to appoint as agent, factor, consignee, or interpreter. They shall not be restrained in the choice of persons to act in such capacities, or be compelled to pay any salary or remuneration to any one whom they do not wish to employ. Absolute freedom shall be given, as well with respect to the consignment and sale of their merchandise and articles of commerce, as to the purchase of their returns, unloading, loading, and sending off their vessels. The buyer and seller shall have full liberty to bargain together and fix the price of any merchandise or articles of commerce imported into or to be exported from the territories of either contracting party, the regulations of commerce established in the respective countries being in every case duly observed.

ARTICLE XII.

The citizens of either of the high contracting parties shall have the full power and liberty to dispose of their personal and real estate and effects of every kind and description, within the jurisdiction of the other, by sale, donation, testament, or otherwise, and their heirs or representatives, being citizens of the other party, shall succeed to the said personal and real estate and effects, whether by testament or ab intestato, and may take possession of the same themselves or by others acting for them, and dispose of the same at their pleasure, paying such dues only as the citizens of the country wherein said estate and effects may be shall be subject to pay in like cases.

ARTICLE XIII.

If any vessel belonging to the citizens of either of the high contracting parties should be wrecked, suffer damage, or be lost therefrom on or near the coasts, within the territories of the other, all assistance and protection shall be given to such vessel and her crew, and the vessel, or any part thereof, and all furniture and appurtenances belonging thereto, together with all the merchandise which shall be saved therefrom, or the produce thereof if sold, shall be faithfully restored to the owners or their agents, they paying only the expenses incurred in the preservation of the property, together with the rate of salvage which would have been payable, in like case, by national vessels, and it shall be permitted for them to unload the merchandise and effects on board, with the proper precautions to prevent their illicit introduction, without exacting in such case any duty, impost, or contribution whatever, provided the same be exported.

ARTICLE XIV.

When through stress of weather, want of water or provisions, pursuit of enemies or pirates, the vessels of one of the high contracting parties, whether of war, (public or private,) or of trade, are employed in, taking, shall be forced to seek shelter in the ports, rivers, bays, and dominions of the other, they shall be received and treated with humanity; sufficient time shall be allowed for the completion of repairs, and while any vessel may be undergoing them, she shall not unnecessarily be required [illegible] to be in a condition to pursue their voyage without obstacle or hindrance.

ARTICLE XV.

All vessels, merchandise, and effects belonging to the citizens of either high contracting parties, which may be captured by pirates either on the high seas or within the limits of its jurisdiction, and may be carried into or found in the rivers, roads bays, ports, or dominions of the other, shall be delivered up to the owners or their agents, they proving, in due and proper form, their rights before the competent tribunals, it being understood that the claim thereto shall be made within two years by the owners themselves, their agents, or the agents of the respective Governments.

ARTICLE XVI.

The high contracting parties promise and engage to give full and perfect protection to the persons and property of the citizens of each other, of all classes and occupations, who may be dwelling or transient in the territories subject to their respective jurisdiction; they shall have free and open access to the tribunals of justice for their judicial recourse, on the same terms as are usual and custom ary with the natives or citizens of the country in which they may be, and they shall be at liberty to employ, in all causes, the advocates, attorneys, notaries, or agents, of whatever description, whom they may think proper. The said citizens shall not be liable to imprisonment without formal commitment under a warrant signed by a legal authority except in cases flagrante delicti and they shall in all cases be brought before a magistrate or other legal authority for examination within twenty-four hours after arrest, and if not so examined, the accused shall forthwith be discharged from custody. Said citizens, when detained in prison, shall be treated, during their imprisonment, with humanity, and no unnecessary severity shall be exercised toward them.

ARTICLE XVII.

It is likewise agreed that perfect and entire liberty of conscience shall be enjoyed by the citizens of both the contracting parties in the countries subject to the jurisdiction of the one or the other, without their being liable to be disturbed or molested on account of their religious belief, so long as they respect the laws and established usages of the country. Moreover, the bodies of the citizens of one of the contracting parties who may die in the territories of the other shall be buried in the usual burying grounds, or in other decent and suitable places, and shall be protected from violation or disturbance.

ARTICLE XVIII.

The citizens of the United States of America and of the Republic of Peru may sail with their vessels with entire freedom and security, from any port to the ports or places of those who now are or hereafter shall be, the enemies of either of the contracting parties, whoever may be the owners of the merchandise laden in the said vessels. The same citizens shall also be allowed to sail with their vessels, and to carry and traffic with their merchandise, from the ports and places of the enemies of both parties, or of one of them, without any hindrance, not only to neutral ports and places, but also from one port belonging to an enemy to another enemy's port, whether they be under the jurisdiction of one power or of several. And it is agreed that free ships shall give freedom to goods, and that everything shall be deemed free which shall be found on board the vessels belonging to the citizens of either of the contracting parties, although the whole lading, or a part thereof, should belong to the enemies of either, articles contraband of war being always excepted. The same liberty shall be extended to persons who may be on board free ships, so that said persons cannot be taken out of them, even if they may be enemies of both parties, or of one of them, unless they are officers or soldiers in the actual service of the enemy. It is agreed that the stipulations in this article declaring that the flag shall cover the property shall be understood as applying to those nations only who recognize this principle, but if either of the contracting parties shall be at war with a third, and the other shall remain neutral, the flag of the neutral shall cover the property of enemies whose Governments acknowledge this principle, and not that of others.

ARTICLE XIX.

When the neutral flag of one of the contracting parties shall protect the property of the enemies of the other, in virtue of the preceding article, neutral property found on board enemies' vessels shall likewise be considered as enemies' property, and shall be subject to detention and confiscation, unless it shall have been put on board before the declaration of war, or, even afterwards, if it were done without knowledge of such declaration, but the contracting parties agree that two months cannot be alleged after the lapse of six months from the declaration of war; on the contrary, in these cases where the flag of the neutral does not protect enemies' property which may be found on board, the goods or merchandise of the neutral embarked in enemies' vessel shall be free.

ARTICLE XX.

The liberty of commerce and navigation stipulated for in the preceding articles shall extend to all kinds of merchandise, except the articles called contraband of war, under which name shall be comprehended,

1. Cannons, mortars, howitzers, swivels, blunderbusses, muskets, fusees, rifles, carbines, pistols, pikes, swords, sabres, lances, spears, halberds, grenades, bombs, powder, matches, balls, torpedoes, and everything belonging to the use of these arms.

2. Bucklers, helmets, breastplates, coats of mail, accoutrements, and clothes made up in military form and for military use.

3. Cavalry belts and horses, with their harnesses.

4. And, generally, all offensive and defensive arms made of iron, steel, brass, copper, or any other material prepared and formed to make war by land or at sea.

ARTICLE XXI.

All other merchandise and things not comprehended in the articles of contraband explicitly enumerated and classified as above shall be held and considered as free, and subjects of free and lawful commerce, so that they may be carried and transported in the freest manner by both the contracting parties, even to places belonging to an enemy, excepting only those places which are at the time besieged or blockaded; and to avoid all doubt in this particular, it is declared that those places only shall be considered as besieged or blockaded which are actually invested or attacked by a force capable of preventing the entry of the neutral.

ARTICLE XXII.

The articles of contraband, or those before enumerated and classified, which may be found in a vessel bound for an enemy's port, shall be subject to detention and confiscation, but the rest of the cargo and the ship shall be left free, that the owners may dispose of them as they see proper. No vessel of either of the contracting parties shall be detained on the high seas on account of having on board articles of contraband, whenever the master, captain, or supercargo of said vessel will deliver up the articles of contraband to the captor, unless, indeed, the quantity of such articles be so great, or of so large bulk, that they cannot be received on board the capturing vessel without great inconvenience; but in this, and in all other cases of just detention, the vessel detained shall be sent to the nearest convenient and safe port for trial and judgment, according to law.

In faith whereof we, the Plenipotentiaries of the United States of America and the Republic of Peru, have signed and sealed these presents.

Done at the City of Lima in duplicate, English and Spanish, this the sixth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy.

Now therefore, be it known that I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States of America, have caused the said treaty to be made public, to the end that the same, and every clause and article thereof, may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof.
